

An excellent opportunity has arisen for a sales orientated and customer focused individual to join a leading organisation supporting the construction, utilities and Civil Engineering sectors throughout the UK and Ireland. Responsible for your own geographical area within the UK your duties will include:- * Marketing of the organisation * Relationship building with new and existing clients * Researching specific projects being carried out on your territory * Calculating quotes and following up on

read full article